

How We Work With New Students

WCU Dining Services provides meals in a variety of settings and locations across campus to help facilitate student success by offering foods that are healthy and nutritious. We help students choose the best meal plan that fits their dining style. Students with dietary restrictions or special diets can work with our registered dietitian.

Fast Facts

- 1) The unlimited meal plan offers the most value because students can dine in Lawrence Dining Hall as often as they want.
- 2) Cash Equivalency allows students to use their meal swipes to purchase food at other retail locations.
- 3) We have one all-you-care-to-eat location (Lawrence Dining Hall) and 12 retail outlets on-campus including national brand favorites like Chick-fil-A and Starbucks.
- 4) No time to sit and dine? We offer to-go options in Lawrence Dining Hall and Grab-n-Go options in our retail locations.

Key Takeaways

Parents should discuss their student's eating habits and class schedule with them when deciding which meal plan will best fit their dining style. Students have the first two weeks of the semester to change their meal plan. All students who live in a traditional or suite-style residence hall on North Campus are required to have a meal plan.

- What's included in your student's meal plan?
 - All meal plans come with specific number of weekly meals to be used in Lawrence Dining Hall except the unlimited plan which allows students to eat as often as they wish at Lawrence. All meals plans come with Flex dollars that can be used at retail locations across campus. Flex dollars are like a debit card for food.
- Where can students eat?
 - In addition to Lawrence Dining Hall, Ram's Head Food Court in Sykes offers Chick-fil-A, Greens to Go, Grille Works, Bene Pizza, and Sandwich Shack. There is also a juice and smoothie bar, three coffee locations, four P.O.D. market convenience stores, and The Diner on campus.
- Dining Resources
 - Information is available on our Campus Dish website. We also share our updates and events on our social media.
- We have employment opportunities for students (Excluding Federal Work Study).
